Mets hiring Yankees bench coach leader Mendoza as skipper

The New York Mets looked across the city to fill their managerial opening.

According to news report from the New York Post and other news outlets, the Mets will hire Yankees bench coach Carlos Mendoza as their manager. Mendoza will be the fifth manager the Mets

After the team parted ways with Buck Showalter following the end of his sec-ond season with the Mets, new presiond season with the Mets, new presi-dent of baseball operations David Stearns elected to go with a first-time manager in the 43-year-old Mendoza. The native of Venezuela has coached in the Yankees organization since 2009, spending the last four seasons as the team's bench coach under manager Aar-

"I view the managerial position as one of true partnership, someone who is working side by side with me and the working side by side with me and the rest of our baseball ops group," Stearns said during his introductory press con-ference on Oct. 2. "The manager has so many responsibilities these days, it is a big job, but first and foremost is the ability to manage people, manage personal-ities and create and facilitate organizational culture where people enjoy com-ing to work and work hard."

Mendoza, who played across the in-field, broke into the Giants minor league system in 1997 at 17 years old. He spent his final four seasons in the Yankees system, reaching as high as Class AAA Scranton/Wilkes-Barre in 2009 before making the leap to coaching.

really strong candidates and the right fit, that's great. And if we have to wait a little longer, I'm fine with that too." Mendoza will enter the role with high expectations. Showalter was let go despite being named National League Manager of the Year in 2022, racking up a 176-148 record and snap-ping a five-year postseason drought.

Craig Counsell hired, Cubs' David Ross fired

PHOENIX – The Chicago Cubs pulled a stunning move on the eve of the GM meetings Monday by hiring manager Craig Counsell and immedimanager Crag Courseil and Immediately firing David Ross, making Counsell baseball's highest-paid manager, his agent told USA TODAY Sports.
"Craig is thrilled to join the Chicago Cubs and hopes to establish a championship culture that will bring great success to Wrigley Field," said Barry Meister of Meister Sports Manage-ment. "It was a difficult decision to leave Milwaukee for whom he holds seet leave and desiration and is exist great love and admiration and is excitmajor league managers in a progressive way."

The Cubs, who began heavily recruiting Counsell on Nov. I immediately after his contract expired with the Milwaukee Brewers, have tentatively scheduled a Nov. 13 press confer ence to introduce Counsell at Wrigley Field.

Counsell, the most successful manager in Brewers history, received a five-year, $40 million contract from the Cubs, making him the highest-paid manager in baseball history. He also received offers from the New York Mets and Cleveland Guardians before accepting the Cubs' job.

roday we made the difficult deci-sion to dismiss David Ross as our Ma-jor League Manager," Jed Hoyer, Cubs president of baseball operations, said in a statement. "On behalf of the Cubs organization, we express our deep gratitude for David's contributions to gratitude for David's contributions to our club, both on and off the field. First as a player and then as a manager, Da-vid continually showcased his ability to lead. David's legacy will be felt in Chicago for generations and his impact to our organization will stack up with the legends that came before him. "Going forward, our Major League

The Cubs are now hoping history reats itself on the field. They fired Rick Renteria in the winter of 2014 when Joe Maddon became available and two years later won their first World Series championship in 86 years. This time, they fired Ross, who was a player on that World Series-winning team and had one year remaining on his Counsell, who managed the Brewers for nine years, badly wanted to reset the marketplace among managers. He was paid $3.5 million by the Brewers this past season and did not engage in con-tract talks during the year. The Brewers offered him a four-year, $20 million con-tract with incentives – $5 million a year - to stay.

He left as the winningest manager in franchise history and the second-longest ten-ured manager/head coach in Cleveland sports history, be-hind only Paul Brown. In many ways, Francona ex-emplified everything the or-ganization wanted to be about, and his departure from the dugout leaves a major hole to fill. Francona is expected to re-main with the franchise in some capacity.

After numerous surgeries and health issues over the last few years, Francona also needed a shoulder replacement and two hernia procedures this offseason. He notified the front office in mid-August of his intention to possibly step aside, though he wouldn't confirm the "worst-kept secret" in baseball until after the season had end-

President of baseball operations Chris Antonetti originally noted that they had a list of roughly 45 potential candi-dates that included both internal and external possibilities. That search took a little more than a month before they found the person who will replace

Second ex-Blackhawks player sues

A second former player in the Chicago Blackhawks or-ganization has filed a lawsuit against the team, alleging that it mishandled claims of sexual abuse levied against a video coach during the 2009-10 NHL

Texans rookie QB taking league by storm

The 32 things we learned from Week 10 of the NFL season through Sunday: 1. What a wild Sunday afternoon, the Cleveland Browns, Houston Texans, Ar-izona Cardinals, Detroit Lions and Seatizona cardinias, petroli Lions and Seat-tle Seahawks all winning with field goals on the final play of their games. It marked the most game-winning scores with no time remaining in the fourth quarter in one week in the league's 104-season history.

1a. It's emblematic of what's been a dramatic season, 69.8% of all games go-ing into Monday within one score in the fourth quarter.

2. In a year when Rams WR Puka Na-2. In a year winen kams with Pluka Na-cua and Dolphins RB De'Von Achane had record-setting starts to their careers – not to mention the ongoing impact of Falcons RB Bijan Robinson and Lions RB Jahmyr Gibbs – is their any reason not to give Offensive Rookie of the Year hon-to give Offensive Rookie of the Year honors to Texans QB C.J. Stroud now?

2a. Coming off his rookie-record 470-yard passing day in Week 9, Stroud put up 356 more in Sunday's 30-27 upset of the Bengals in Cincinnati. He joined Cam Newton and Andrew Luck for the most games (3) with 350+ passing yards among rookies – with eight more games yet to play. Stroud's 2,626 yards passing are the third-highest total ever through a rookie's first nine starts.

3. Houston's win, secured by fill-in K Matt Ammendola's 38-yard field goal, moved the Texans ahead of the Bengals by a tiebreaker and into the AFC's pro-jected playoff field as the final wild-card

3a. However a win by the Bills on Monday night – they hosted the Denver Broncos – would vault Buffalo past

4. It wasn't all daisies and rainbows 4. It wasn't all daisies and rainbows for Stroud, who threw his second inter-ception of the season – though his 15-to-2 touchdown-to-interception ratio is still tracking toward breaking Dak Pres-cott's rookie record (23-to-4).

4a. But it was pretty sweet to have such a big game in Cincinnati, where Stroud could doubtless salute so many alumni from Ohio State, for whom he was starring just last year.

5. Welcome back, Kyler Murray. The Cardinals quarterback returned to action II months after suffering a torn an-terior cruciate ligament. Sunday's effort against the Atlanta Falcons was hardly perfect - 249 yards and an interception through the air with 33 yards and a TD on the ground – but Murray's 33-yard pass to TE Trey McBride set up Matt Prater's 23-yard game-winning field goal.

6. The Lions no longer have the league's worst defense, though Sunday served up an unwanted flashback after they gave up 38 points to the Los Angeles Chargers. But no problem – even on the road – as the NFC North leaders the road – as the NFC North leaders hung on for a 41-38 win that pulled them one game behind the idle Philadelphia Eagles – they're about to face Kansas City, Buffalo, San Francisco, Dallas and Seattle in succession – in the race for the conference's No. 1 playoff seed.

7. But what an aerial show by the A. But what an aerial show by the Bolts. QB Justin Herbert's 16,438 pass-ing yards eclipsed Hall of Famer Peyton Manning for the most by a player in his first four NFL seasons. Herbert threw for 323 yards and four TDs in defeat.

Cardinals quarterback Kyler Murray runs in for a touchdown past Falcons

7a. Meanwhile, Chargers WR Keenan Allen now has 15 games with at least 11

Anen now has 15 games wind at least in receptions, also a league record.

8. The Minnesota Vikings ran their winning streak to five games, currently the league's best, by outlasting the New Orleans Saints 27-19.

9. Vikes substitute QB Joshua Dobbs, formerly the Cardinals' substitute OB accounted for two more TDs in his first start for Minnesota.

9a. At some point – next year? – is some team finally going to offer Dobbs some team inauy going to oner Dobos the chance to get on a tenure track? At least the NFL has stripped the "Passtro-naut" across the top of its X account. 10. The number of rookie quarter-backs to start this season, a league record (the 1987 strike season notwithstanding) after the New York Giants were forced to elevate Tommy DeVito for Sunday's game against the Dallas Cowboys.

11. This veteran has always been applied "Sa-In this veteran has always been appreciative of the league's ongoing "Salute to Service" program, not to mention the military-adjacent gear players and coaches sport every year.
 12. And a salute to the Cowboys for making their red, white and blue helmet stripes an annual tradition to honor

12a. Originally a look "America's Team" used throughout the 1976 season to celebrate America's bicentennial, the to ceieorate America s Dicentennial, the Cowboys have gone red, white and blue on their helmets for a game in the past three seasons, including Sunday. 13. Yet another salute to Dallas WR CeeDee Lamb, the first man in NFL annals to catch at least 10 passes for at least 150 yards in three consecutive games after snaring 11 balls for 151 yards in Sunday's 49-17 rout of the little Giants. Lamb caught one TD pass and ran forms after said to the s for another score.

14. And a final salute to Cowbovs manager Mike McCarthy, who's taken deserved flak – this space serving up some – for his orchestration of the Dal-las offense. Maybe it's not all that noteworthy steamolling the Giants, but any time you score seven TDs and post 640 yards and 32 first downs - thirty-two against an NFL defense, you're clearly doing something right.

14a. Six of the Cowboys' touchdowns came in the red zone, a place they've struggled all season.

15. Dallas ran its home winning streak to 12, currently the league's long-

15a. The Cowboys swept the Giants this season by a collective 89-17 score.

16. Just when you think you understand the NFL – particularly in this vexing 2023 season – you get a game like the Browns' 33-31 victory over the AFC North-leading Baltimore Ravens on

16a. Just when you thought the Rayens had staked a legitimate claim as the league's best team.

Just when you knew the team with the universe's best kicker (Balti-more's Justin Tucker) had an advantage ... only to see him outperformed by Cleveland's Dustin Hopkins, who was perfect on four field goal tries, including the game-winning 40-yarder.

17. Weird stat of the game: Ravens rookie RB Keaton Mitchell had a 39-yard

17b. Wild stat of the game: Per ESPN
Stats & Info, no NFL team – until now – had won a game in the 21st century while trailing for as long as 59 minutes and 20 seconds, which Cleveland did

18. If Sunday's game between the division-leading San Francisco 49ers and Jaguars in Jacksonville had been la-beled a "contender or pretender" matchup, then the verdict is squarely in after the Niners' 34-3 rout ended their threegame skid and the Jags' five-game win-

game skid and the Jags IIVe-game wm-ning streak.

19. San Francisco RB Christian McCaffrey's I7-game streak, including postseason, with at least one touch-down ended one shy of setting a league

21. The Green Bay Packers outgained the Steelers 399-324, Pittsburgh yet to have more yards than an opponent in all nine games this season and now collectively outstripped by 865. 23. But that s good news for the Pack-ers, who will wear theirs in Week II.
24. Sunday's game between the Indi-anapolis Colts and New England Patri-ots in Frankfurt, Germany, was the league's 50th regular-season contest staged outside the United States.

25. The Pats' 10-6 defeat prevented them from becoming the first team to win its first four games on foreign soil. 26. New England's setback may also signal the end of QB Mac Jones' starting tenure. This wasn't the first game this season finished by QB2 (currently) Bailey Zappe, but it was the first time he took over with the outcome still in

27. The Patriots are off next week but (embattled?) head coach Bill Belichick did not commit to a starting quarter-back for Week 12's matchup with the Gi-

27a. "How does Mac Jones come 27a. How does wait Jones come back from that? We've seen his emo-tional failures before," ESPN analyst and former Patriots defensive captain Tedy Bruschi said after watching Jones get benched. "I don't know how more embarrassing this gets."

28. While the Colts will gladly take the win and the level-setting 5-5 record they take into their bye week, Sunday was the first time they failed to score 20 points – ending the best streak of any team in the league in 2023.

29. What a weekend for the Bears

29. What a weekend for the Bears. They improved the chances they will own the No.1draft pick in 2024 by beat-ing the one-win Carolina Panthers – who would own that pick had they not traded it to Chicago earlier this year. Those odds further improved Sunday when the Cardinals got their second vic-

Super Bowl 57 rematch.

32. Because you were thinking it, noted Eagles fan Taylor Swift has a concert the night before in Brazil. If she makes the trek to Kansas City, it will say something about her relationship with Chiefs All-Pro TE Travis Kelce
