

Consumer's Guide to Day Care Liability Insurance

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF INSURANCE

PI-054 (R 01/2011)

Should I have day care liability insurance?

Yes. Anyone who operates a day care facility should have insurance to cover property damage and bodily injury to children in your care.

How can I buy this coverage?

If you operate an unlicensed facility, your homeowner's, tenant's, or condominium policy may or may not include coverage for your day care operation. Some companies include day care coverage without charging any additional premium. Some companies will add the coverage as an endorsement and charge an extra premium for it. Other companies exclude coverage for day care. If you already have insurance, you should check with your agent to find out if day care coverage is included in your policy or may be purchased for an additional premium.

If you operate a licensed facility, you will need to buy a separate business policy to cover your day care operation.

Under state law (Chapter 48, Wis. Stat.), anyone who is paid to provide care or supervision for four or more children under the age of seven is required to obtain a license.

What about costs and acceptability?

The costs vary. Premiums may vary significantly from company to company depending on the rating factors used by the companies. Previous claims history, years of operation, number of children cared for, and type of facility used will affect the rate. A physical inspection of the premises may be required.

For unlicensed facilities, the rates generally are based on the amount of liability limits you carry in your home, tenant, or condominium policy.

For licensed facilities, the rates are based on the amount of liability coverage you decide to carry and the number of children that will be in your care.

What does the insurance cover?

Day care liability protection will provide coverage up to the policy limits for property damage and bodily injury to children in your care to the extent you are held legally liable. Some policies may also provide medical payments coverage.

Generally, day care liability insurance does not cover the use of draft or saddle animals, motor vehicles, watercraft, or intentional acts of physical and sexual abuse. There may be other exclusions in the policy. You should ask your agent about them before you buy the policy.

How do I increase my chances of getting affordable liability insurance?

Try to bring your facility in line with your insurance company's underwriting guidelines. It may mean putting off the swimming pool for a few years, fencing in a play area, fencing out the family pet, hiring an experienced helper, or installing a few fire extinguishers and smoke alarms. By doing these things, you will not only make it easier to get insurance, but it may also reduce the amount you have to pay for insurance. Day care providers can help keep insurance affordable by providing safe and responsible care in a clean and healthy risk-free environment.

Do not hesitate to ask your insurance agent about the underwriting requirements regarding day care liability for the companies they represent.

How do I find this coverage?

If your present agent is unable to assist you, check with other day care operators. Agents and companies are listed alphabetically and by location in the yellow pages. The Wisconsin Early Childhood Association, 1-608-240-9880 or 1-800-783-9322 in Madison or 1-414-278-9322 in Milwaukee, may be able to assist you.

If you are not satisfied with the service you are receiving, contact your company or agent. Some industry associations may help. They are:
