

Injured Patients and Families Compensation Fund on LinkedIn

As advised in the Summer 2017 Newsletter, the Fund is now online at LinkedIn. To participate, please review the information below. It explains how to access the site as well as what to expect as the site matures.

1. Getting Connected

To access the site, the first thing you need is a LinkedIn account. If you do not already have one, simply visit <http://www.linkedin.com> to get started with a free LinkedIn account. Once you're logged in, you can either use the search function from the top toolbar to search for "Injured Patients and Families Compensation Fund" or you can go to <http://linkedin.ipfcf.com>.

Once you're on the Fund's page, click the "Follow" button to receive the public-facing notifications. Then, to receive more customized content specific to you, please ask to join the featured group.

To do so, click on the "See more" bar right below the "About us" information on the IPFCF LinkedIn page. Then click the link to go to "IPFCF Risk Managers." After you're on the group page, click "Ask to join" button in the upper right corner. Once a Group Administrator approves your membership, you'll be all set!

Now you'll begin to see the Fund's content post into your feed! And every time you see the gold shield, you'll know that it's an article to help protect you by sharing the latest in risk management.

2. What to expect

The Fund will regularly update the site with customized articles as well as links to relevant content. We also encourage you to comment on our postings (these will be moderated for relevance by the Group Administrator). In addition, we will be offering two Learning Events every year, which you will be able to register for and participate in through links posted and shared via our LinkedIn site.

3. Participation Guidelines

All members are welcome to join and are encouraged to actively participate. As noted above, all postings will be moderated and we ask posters to engage with the subject at hand, while avoiding off subject postings or postings which include commercial or political content.
